ABOUT MAMARONECK

Featuring a vibrant downtown dotted with antique stores, restaurants and a picturesque harbor that beckons sunbathers in the summer, Mamaroneck draws visitors looking for shopping and relaxation.

One of the oldest communities in Westchester County, the town was settled in the late 1600s. Its first census, taken in 1698, counted 77 residents. Today, the town is a popular home for young commuting professionals, who can arrive in Manhattan in less than 40 minutes via Metro-North.

Today the Village is primarily a residential community on Long Island Sound with a major inland harbor and facilities to build and service pleasure boating.

Mamaroneck Ave and Boston Post Rd are the main commercial areas. The Village comprises 6.7 sq. miles of area of which 3.5 miles are lands under water, approximately 9 miles of coastline, and 55 miles of roads (about 120 lane-miles of roads), including State and County owned roads.

The Village is home to distinct residential neighborhoods, each with its own characteristic. Along the Sound, there is Shore Acres, Greenhaven and Orienta, all places previously owned by wealthy families from New York City as summer residences.
